One Health

Human health, animal health and ecosystems are inextricably linked

1. Human Health
   At least 60% of all human diseases have their origin in animals.
   Diseases in food producing animals globally amount to a 20% loss in production.

2. Animal Health

3. Ecosystems
   In the past 30-40 years, habitat encroachment and changes in demography have led to emerging diseases.